DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because of the following:
  - a.) The drawings have claims in the drawings. See pages 10 and 14 of applicants' drawings.
  - b.) The drawings do not contain proper numbering of the views as required by 37 CFR 1.84(U).
  - c.) The drawings contain too much descriptive text. While 37 CFR 1.84 (O) states that descriptive legends may be used, the regulation requires that they should contain as few words as possible. Applicants' drawings contain over 50 paragraphs and several hundred words of substantive text.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: This application is objected to because it does not contain a brief description of the drawings section as required by 37 CFR 1.72. Correction is required.

Art Unit: 1775

3. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: The claimed subject matter should be incorporated into the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

6. The claimed limitations of “a wet etched pit having a flat surface; b) a U-shaped dry pit disposed in the wet etched pit; c) a wedge disposed in the U-shaped dry pit, wherein the wedge extends above the flat surface” in claims 7-9, are not adequately described in the specification so that one of ordinary skill in the art can make and/or use the claimed invention. Applicants’ written specification provides no mention of how this claimed embodiment is made or used and the only mention of the claimed in embodiment is the text that accompanies the drawings. Therefore, it would require undue experimentation by one of ordinary skill in the art to make and use the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1-6 and 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 6,428,053 (Tai et al.).

Regarding claims 1-3, Tai teaches a micromachined fluidic coupler comprising a substrate of (100) silicon having a series of pits anisotropically wet etched in the substrate (col. 3, lines 60, Figures 1, 3A, 3B and 4). Regarding claims 4-6 and 10-14, Tai further teaches that truncated pyramidal etched pits in the (100) silicon substrate have a ring shaped pit inside them and a hole centered inside the pits with a small capillaries attached to the pits (See Figures 6A-6C and col. 4, lines 1-25). With regard to the process limitations recited in the claims, process limitations in product claims are generally not dispositive on patentability unless it is shown that the process limitations produce a materially different product. MPEP §2113.
